Course requirements for students specializing in literature, culture, and/or film entering the program without a Masters degree

48 of the 80 credit hours required for the Ph.D., or 16 3-hour courses, must be taken in the four categories above (I-IV). 6 additional credit hours will be earned by taking two required courses, 7301 and 7601, during the first semester.

*In consultation with their advisor, students may count up to 6 credit hours of graduate courses (usually 2 courses) offered outside the department toward these 54 hours (if the student’s area of specialization requires it, additional extra-departmental courses may be counted toward these hours with the approval of both the student’s advisor and the Graduate Chair).

The remaining 26 hours needed to reach 80 will include the following course numbers:

- 8303 Teaching Apprenticeship 1-3
- 8998 Exam and Prospectus Preparation
- 8999 Dissertation Writing
- 8899 Dissertation Workshop 3-6

Students are required to take one 8303 Teaching Apprenticeship at some point during their program (which is worth 1 to 3 credit hours depending on whether taken pre- or post-Candidacy). Students who have passed their candidacy exams must register for 8899 Dissertation Workshop (1 credit) the following semester and each semester until graduation. Graduate courses taken outside the department above and beyond those permitted to count toward the required 54 hours of coursework described above may also be counted toward these remaining 26 hours.
